HOW TWO YANKEES BEHAVED AT VERSALLES.—Louis Blanc told the following in a recent conference at Troyes:
One day I arrived at Versailles before the opening of the session. An usher informed me that two persons wished to see me. I saw the visitors. They were two Americans of the purest Yankee type, who represented themselves to me as unknown friends. They had read my books, they said, and wished particularto see me. I thanked them, and then, thinking that they probably wished to attend a session, I offered them seats.

"No," they said; "all we want is to see the chamber where the sessions are held."

I conducted them thither. As soon as they had entered, without even casting a rapid glance around to take in the appearance of the chamber, they asked:

Thereupon the two Americans, one after the other, coolly, sedately, methodically, with closed lips, serious air and fixed looks, like men engaged in performing a grave duty and serious air and fixed looks, like men engaged in performing a grave duty and one demanding precision, sat down on the chair, rose and sat down again, one after the other, as if they were testing the firmness of the seat. When it was over, each drew from his pocket a memorandum book, and wrote:

"Chamber of Deputies, Yersailles. Sat in the chairs of the Honorable Messrs. Gambetta and Louis Blanc, Deputies."

MAN AS A BONNET BUYER .- "New bonnet, new bonnet-$12 for a new bonnet!" exclaimed Mr. Slick the other evening, as his wife suggested a change from the winter styles.

"Yes, only $12," she humbly replied.

"$12 for a bonnet is a confounded outrage, and I know it!" he went on.—

"Why, I can buy two fine silk hats for that money, and have some strawberry change left! It's a dead swindle to ask $12 for a bonnet."

"I will, by George! I will! I'll bring you up a new bonnet in the morning and I'll get it $4 cheaper than you dare to!"
Mr. Slick was as good as his word.
He went into a millinery store next forenoon with his eve teeth all sharpened and with the idea in his mind that every bonnet in the store was priced at exactly $12. He looked around a little, selecting a bonnet that pleased him, and pointing his cane at it and cailing up his deepest voice, he inquired:

"Are you asking $12 for that bonnet!"

The woman flushed, looked from the bounet to the man, and was trying to reply, when he said:

"These are not the times for outrageous prices, and all buyers realize it. I'll give you $8 for that bonnet, and not a cent

"That-that bonnet-" "$8, and no more!" he interrupted; and she put the article in a box and took his money.

"What'd I tell my wife, eh?" he whispered, as he went out. "I tell you it takes a man to buy goods, no matter whether it's fence posts or paper cambilation.

When he sat down at home and took the cover off the box and held up the bonnet, Mrs. Slick inquired:

"How much did she charge you?"

REMARKABLE CURE OF SCROFULA, &c.

Cuse of Col. J. C. Branson.

Kingston, Ga., September 15, 1871.

GENTS—For sixteen years I have been a great ufferer from Scrofula in its most distressing forms. GERTS—For sixteen years I have been a great sufferer from Scrofula in its most distressing forms. I have been confined to my room and bed for fifteen years with scrofulous ulcerations. The most approved remedies for such cases had been used, and the most eminent physicians consulted, without any decided benefit. Thus prostrated, distressed, desponding, I was advised by Dr. Ayer, of Floyd County, Ga., to commence the use of your Compound Extract Stillingia. Language is as insufficient to describe the relief I obtsined from the use of the Stillingia as it is to convey an adequate idea of the intensity of my suffering before using your medicine; sufficient to say, I abandonce all other remedies and continued the use of your Extract of Stillingia, until I can say truly, "I am cured of all pain," of all disease, with nothing to obstruct the active pursuit of my profession. More than eight months have clapsed since this remarkable cure, without any return of the disease. For the truth of the above statement, I refer to any gentleman in Bartow County, Ga., and to the members of the bar of Cherokee Circuit, who are acquainted with me. I shall ever remain, with the deepest gratitude, your obedient servant,

J. C. BRANSON, Att'y at Law.

A MIRACLE.

WEST POINT, GA., Sept. 16, 1870.

GENTS—My daughter was taken on the 25th day of June, 1863, with what was supposed to be Acute Rheumatism, and was treated for the same with no success. In March, following, pieces of bone began to work out of the right arm, and continued to appear till all the bone from the elbow to the shoulder joint came out. Many pieces of bone came out of the right foot and leg. The case was then pronounced one of White Swelling. After having been confined about six years to her bed, and the case considered hopeless, I was induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Stillingia, and was so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued the use of it until the present.

My daughter was confined to ber bed about six years before she sat up or even turned over without help. She now sits up all day, and sews most of her time—has walked across the room. Her general health is now good, and I believe she will, as her litubs gain strength, walk well. I attribute her recovery, with the blessing of God, to the use of your invaluable medicine.

With gratitude, I am years truly.
